

Layered Privacy Notice – Equate Scotland (Edinburgh Napier University):

Equate Scotland (Edinburgh Napier University), as the Data Controller, is providing you with this information as required by UK Data Protection Legislation.

Introduction to the Service

At Equate Scotland, we make a positive difference for women in science, engineering, technology, mathematics, and the built environment STEM sectors, and actively work to change cultures in organisations and academia.

Established in 2006, Equate Scotland is the national expert in gender equality throughout the STEM sectors. We make a tangible and sustainable change, enabling women studying and working in these key sectors to develop, by supporting their recruitment, retention, and progression. Our vision is of a progressive STEM labour market where women can contribute equally to advancements in science, engineering, technology, mathematics and the built environment and have fair access to the jobs of the future.

We provide free support training and event services to Women in STEM, Women STEM students and employers. We work with policy and change makers to influence the landscape for Women in STEM in Scotland.

Why are we collecting data and what are we doing with it (purposes)?

We collect this to communicate with you about any Equate Scotland event or training you plan to attend or Equate Scotland service you plan to utilise to ensure the event training or service is suitable for you and to share details with the partners who facilitate or support our events, training or service. We are required to report attendance information in aggregate to our funders.

Activities and processing being undertaken:

Equate Scotland work alongside other partnership organisations– where necessary we share information with each other to offer you the best quality of support and for administrative and statistical purposes to report on our services and shape future policy, funding, opportunities, support, etc.

Examples include of this include:

- Collecting personal data to enable us to offer support and make necessary adjustments
- Sharing information with our funders and partner organisations for the programme you are attending.
- Provision of advice, assistance and support.
- Referrals to outside agencies for on-going support.
- Administration
- Information is collected to evaluate the services we provide. We act on the feedback you give us and use it improve our services.

Who are we sharing your Personal Data with?

Depending on the training programme, event, or service you are utilising we may share your personal data with our funders and partner organisations. The relevant partner organisations will be highlighted to you in your initial registration form.

All Equate Scotland staff have access to the registration data which is held securely on the University systems that we use to administer and manage Equate services. These systems are third party provided systems managed by the University.

If you register for an event using Eventbrite, you are providing your personal data to an external organisation (Eventbrite) for these purposes and as such you are accepting and consenting to the practices in their Privacy Policy which can be accessed here: Eventbrite Privacy Policy | Eventbrite Help Centre. Please note that Eventbrite is based in the United States, however they are registered on the EU-US Data Privacy Framework scheme designed to ensure companies are compliant with GDPR standards. Edinburgh Napier University using Eventbrite services solely for the purposes of facilitating event ticketing and registration and does not accept any responsibility or liability for personal data which you have chosen to provide to such third-party sites. If you do not wish to use Eventbrite, you can email Equate to enquire about the event using the following email address info@equatescotland.org.uk:

What is the legal basis for processing?

The legal basis the University relies on primarily is Article 6(1)(e): for the performance of a task carried out in the public interest or in the exercise of the official authority vested in the controller, namely the University's Statutory Instruments: "for the objects of providing education, carrying out research, and promoting teaching, research and general scholarship" and the administration thereof.

Additional legal bases we rely on for processing certain personal data categories, depending on the purposes for which we are collecting and processing those data are:

- Article 6.1 (c) – for compliance with a legal obligation, principally the Equality Act 2010, but also including other legislation, such as the Modern Slavery Act 2015, "Prevent" legislation, etc.
- Article 9.2 (g) - as permitted by under section 10(3), and Schedule 1, of the Data Protection Act 2018 for the processing of special category (sensitive) personal data for the purposes:
 - Part 2(6) – Statutory purposes (see 6.1,(e) above)
 - Part 2(8) – Equality of opportunity or treatment
- Article 6.1(a) – we rely on consent for sending you marketing information, but you can opt-out or unsubscribe from this at any time.

What information are we collecting (whose information and what type of personal data)?

We collect information from Women, Students and Employers in the STEM industries.

The range of information we collect includes:

Personal details, including any information that identifies the data subject and their personal characteristics, including: name, address, contact details, age, date of birth, gender, including. health conditions, impairments or learning differences as relevant to the purposes e.g reasonable adjustments.

Family, lifestyle and social circumstances, including any information relating to the family of the data subject and the data subject's lifestyle and social circumstances, including current marriage and partnerships, marital history, details of family and other household members, etc., as relevant to the purposes, e.g. for assessing eligibility.

Education and training details, including information which relates to the education and any professional training of the data subject, including academic records, qualifications, skills, training records, professional expertise, as relevant to the purposes e.g. determining support needs.

Employment details, including information relating to the employment of the data subject, including employment and career history, recruitment and termination details, as relevant to the purposes e.g providing an effective service.

Financial details, including information relating to the financial affairs of the data subject, including income and salary as relevant to the purposes e.g providing an effective service.

Special category (sensitive) personal data that we may collect includes information that concerns, reveals or is about:

- racial or ethnic origin
- religious or philosophical beliefs
- sex life or sexual orientation
- health
- criminal convictions and offences as relevant to the purposes e.g. equal opportunities monitoring.

How are we collecting this information?

Equate Scotland gather your information through a variety of means including:

- Information will be collected from you through your direct involvement, e.g. when you fill out a registration form or application form for one of our services, training opportunity or events.
- Additional information may be collected from our partner organisations.

Who keeps your information updated?

We rely on you to advise us if your personal data changes and needs to be updated on our systems. Equate Scotland Staff will update your records relating to the services you use or support that you receive from Equate.

Will your information be used for any automated decision making or profiling? No

Is information transferred to a third country? Outside the UK, EEA and not included in the adequate countries list. No, apart from the use of Eventbrite, as mentioned above.

Is any other information available?

This information is provided to supplement the University's main Privacy Notices and it is recommended that appropriate notices are reviewed to provide full information about how the University processes personal data.

You can access all the University's privacy notices using the following URL: <https://www.napier.ac.uk/privacy-policy>

You have a number of rights available to you with regards to what personal data of yours is held by the University and how it is processed – to find out more about your rights, how to make a request and who to contact if you have any further queries about Data Protection please see the information online using the following URL: <https://www.napier.ac.uk/privacy-policy>

